

She asked if I ever get tired of thinking.

I said, "No, do you?"

She laughed like it was a joke.

It wasn't.

That's the difference between us.

She thinks silence means peace.

I think it means decay.

She thinks reading is for escaping.

I think it's for dissection.

We're not opposites.

She's just... simpler.

- O